excerpt from papers on current finance the constant requests i receive from university students and correspondents at home and abroad for copies of one or other of these papers have led me to think that their publication in this form might be convenient the more so as the journals in which some of them originally appeared are now out of print generally speaking with only slight exceptions the papers are reprinted without alteration and with no attempt to bring the figures up to date the progress of events is now so extraordinarily rapid and the situation changes so much from day to day that only the daily press can keep fully abreast of the movement the connection between the papers may not be obvious at first sight but they all relate either to financial problems directly raised by the war or to problems which have gained new interest and urgency in view of the financial reconstructions which the war has made inevitable a few words by way of introduction may serve to make this clear and to summarise the main topics treated in the volume about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
