the story of how vahan kenderian survived the turkish massacre of the armenians in 1915

drawing on his own great uncle s experiences bagdasarian covers the years 1915 1918 when a boy from a wealthy well respected family from bitlis turkey is stripped of everything simply because he is armenian publishers weekly harold kline is an albino an outcast folks stare and taunt calling him ghost boy it s been that way all of his 14 years so when the circus comes to town harold runs off to join it full of colorful performers the circus seems like the answer to harold s loneliness he s eager to meet the cannibal king a sideshow attraction who s an albino too he s touched that princess minikin and the fossil man two other sideshow curiosities embrace him like a son he s in love with flip the beguiling horse trainer and awed by the all knowing gypsy magda most of all harold is proud of training the elephants and of earning respect and a sense of normality even at the circus though two groups exist the freaks and everyone else

Harold straddles both groups but fitting in with those who are normal comes at a price and sometimes it's recognizing the truth beneath what's apparent that ultimately leads to happiness and turns a boy into a man

The Printz award winning classic gets a new look written in haunting lyrical prose. Kit's wilderness examines the bonds of family from one generation to the next and explores how meaning and beauty can be revealed from the depths of darkness. The Watson family moves to Stoneygate, an old coal mining town, to care for Kit's recently widowed grandfather. When Kit meets John Askew, another boy whose family has both worked and died in the mines, Askew invites Kit to join him in playing a game called Death. As Kit's grandfather tells him stories of the mine's past and the history of the Watson family, Askew takes Kit into the mines where the boys look to find the childhood ghosts of their long-gone ancestors. A Michael I. Printz award winner, an ALA notable book, a Publishers Weekly best book.

A candid memoir of growing up during the Chinese Cultural Revolution that is sure to inspire. Da Chen grew up as an outcast in Communist China. His family's legacy had been one of privilege prior to the revolution, but now in the Chairman Mao era, they are treated with scorn for Da Chen. That means that all of his successes and academic achievements are nullified when one teacher tells him that because of his family's crimes, he can never be more than a poor farmer. Feeling his fate is hopeless, Da responds by dropping out. Da's life takes a dark turn, and he soon begins hanging out with a gang. However, all is not lost. After Chairman Mao's death, Da realizes that an education and college might be possible. He begins to study all day and into the night. His entire family rallies to help him succeed, working long hours in the rice fields and going into debt to ensure that Da has an education. Their struggle would not be in vain when the final exam results are posted: Da has one of the highest scores in the region, earning him a place at the prestigious Beijing University and a future free from the scars of his past. This inspiring memoir, adapted for young readers from Colors of the Mountain, is one that will rally readers to defy the odds. Praise for China's son, humor, and unflinching honesty inform the narrative, which is shot through with lyrical descriptions. Publishers Weekly: Da Chen's narrative moves smoothly, communicating setting and character with an immediacy that will draw young readers in. Kirkus Reviews.
